

MEDIA & POLITICS & ADVOCACY

RED DEFINED

Inside Washington 2018 Academic Seminar
January 2-14, 2018

Did the Trump administration drain the swamp, or is it still business as usual in Washington, D.C.?

Has the president's use of Twitter fundamentally changed the nature of media coverage in the U.S.?

What's in store for the 2018 midterm elections, and how are rallies and protests shaping our political and social landscape?

Join The Washington Center for Inside Washington 2018, a two-week academic seminar through which you will examine these questions, along with other current issues in media, politics and advocacy.

---

Inside Washington 2018 provides a unique opportunity to be in Washington, D.C. as you:

- examine year one of the Trump presidency and the changes that have unfolded
- dive into current issues with experts working in the media, politics and advocacy fields
- explore the nation's capital and gain access to think tanks, embassies, media outlets and more

Take the next step:

Visit www.twc.edu/insidewashington to find out more about this academic seminar.