Benefits for Participating in the Program

Real work experience
Our internships give you the chance to work almost full time, allowing you to feel like a member of the staff at your office. You may assist attorneys during a trial, evaluate capital markets, help in radio or television production or attend congressional hearings.

Professional program advisors
Every Washington Center student selects a program that is led by one or more professional program advisors, who counsel, supervise and evaluate their students. Program advisors also organize activities during the days or half-days when students are not at their internship.

Access to distinguished speakers
You will get the chance to listen to and engage with distinguished speakers, including cabinet members, ambassadors, journalists and members of Congress. You'll get direct access to the perspectives and experiences of important leaders from the business, nonprofit, media, government and diplomatic communities.

Academic courses in your major
The courses, led by highly qualified faculty who are dedicated teachers, meet one night per week. They are grounded in traditional disciplines yet taught within the context of the wide array of resources available in Washington, D.C.

Accessible housing
We don't house you in dormitories. Instead, you'll share an apartment with other Washington Center interns in our Residential and Academic Facility at NoMA near Capitol Hill or our Residential Facility at Solaire in nearby Silver Spring.

Planned activities
You will participate in a variety of social activities, trips and adventures with your colleagues, and at the end of it all, you will have created solid and lasting friendships that remain long after completing your internship with TWC.

Washington, D.C.
Washington, D.C. is a city with so much to offer—impressive architecture and monuments, incredible museums, world-class performances of theater, great nightlife, a rich international community and hundreds of restaurants offering cuisines from all over the world—and you'll be able to experience it all from a true insider's perspective.